The Blues eat at the expense of the Golds next Monday night. It was a glorious victory with everybody happy.

Beginning with the big dinner Monday night, the campaign has been the greatest whirlwind of united enthusiastic effort Sierra Madre ever saw. The result is a bona fide membership of 258 and a pledged budget of $5,190.

SEELIG STORE GIVES BOOST TO WEST CENTRAL

Work on the new store building to be occupied by one of the Sam Seelig chain of groceries was started this week by Contractor George Clark. The walls will be of concrete tile with stucco finish, and Buchan Brothers are doing the concrete work.

The building is located on the Gold-man property adjoining the store rooms at 60 and 66 West Central. It is understood the Seelig management has also taken a lease on these rooms which have been standing idle for some time. With the hotel building rapidly approaching completion by Contractor A. T. Hesse, the prospect of greater activity along West Central avenue looms as a certainty.

The leasing of the two additional store rooms is understood to be for the double purpose of controlling the property and of realizing the benefit of increased demand for business property in the neighborhood.

The man who had an application pending for license for a pool room, expecting to occupy one of the rooms, is now without a location and may not find anything available, even though his license were granted. Considerable opposition opposition sentiment has developed to an additional pool room in town.

Mrs. P. M. Moore, who has been spending the winter with her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. P. Watson of 237 West Laurel, left Tuesday for her home in Dexter, Maine. Before leaving she was honored with a pleasant little surprise party tendered by a number of friends at the home of Mrs. Watson.

St. Rita's Club is giving a dance and card party Wednesday, May 28. The public is invited. Tickets may be procured at Woodson F. Jones' store at 50 cents a person.

THRILLS ARE PLENTY WHEN HATTON RIDES

Miss Effie Slaughter of 38 North Auburn avenue was the lucky patron at the Wistaria Theater last Wednesday night and was presented with an order on The Sierra Madre Tailor Shop, 14 W. Central Ave. This order was good for the cleaning and pressing of a ladies' suit or the cleaning and pressing of a man's suit and blocking of his hat, a worth while, practical gift.

Four thrills in "Four Hearts," which is screened at the Wistaria Saturday and Monday are the following among many:

A mountain side blown up by dynamite beneath the feet of horse and rider, who are thrown down a death imperiling precipice.

A thrilling rescue by Dick Hatton of the heroine being dragged from a stirrup of a runaway horse.

Dick Hatton, perched on the end of a dangerous tree limb, lassos a man from a rapidly racing automobile.

A hair-raising fist fight that ends with Dick Hatton being knocked head over heels backward down a fifty foot embankment.

"Four Hearts" is a fascinating picture of a game of love, not cards. A story that will bring a tear, a laugh a thrill. An inspiring story of two men who were buddies in No-Man's land, and become buddies in God's country. The story of Cupid on a rampage in the wild and rugged west.

Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno in "The Exciters" and Baby Peggy in "The Darling of New York" round out a week of varied, high class features. There is of course a generous mixture of short comedies and other films which Manager Brown throws in for good measure.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Morgan of Sierra Madre Canyon are the parents of a son, born Sunday, May 4.

RESORT OWNERS NAME THOMPSON FOR PRESIDENT

Permanent officers of the Resort Owners' association of the Sierra Madre Mountains were elected at the third meeting of that association in the home of William Murphy, proprietor of Hooge's Camp in Sierra Madre, Wednesday.

Earl V. Thompson of Camp Rincon was elected president; T. E. Justice of Wildwood Lodge, vice-president; T. Syverston of Teddy's Outpost, secretary; and E. J. Killian of Sturtevant's Camp, treasurer.

Directors elected were W. E. Corey of Mt. Wilson hotel, H. C. McCullough of Camp Baldy and L. B. Austin of Switzer-Land. By-laws of the organization were adopted.

The purpose of the organization is to safeguard and further the interests of the mountain camps, resorts and allied businesses in the Sierra Madre mountains. The next meeting will be in Sierra Madre on May 13 at 10 a. m.

Tennis Meet Has Thrills in Abundance

The first round of the Sierra Madre community tennis tournament was played last Saturday on the court of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawless. There was a fine attendance and keen interest was manifested in the play. The following are the series:

Bowen vs. Emley, 6-0; 1-6. The final set will be played off next Saturday.

Jensen Sr. vs. Baird, 2-6. Finals next Saturday.

Wood vs. Jenner, 3-6; 6-2. Finals next Saturday.

Smith vs. Hawks, 6-5; 6-2. Mr. Smith plays the winner of the Wood-Jenner set.

Miller vs. Hill, 4-6; 6-4; 1-6. Mr. Hill plays winner of Tate-Jensen set.

Jensen Jr. vs. Tate, 4-6. Finals Saturday.

The game of the afternoon was that between our local champion, Mr. Randolph Wood, and Mr. Don Jenner, a young man who formerly resided in Sierra Madre but who is now a resident of Los Angeles. Mr. Wood, in true sportsmanlike fashion, consented to accept Mr. Jenner's last minute entry and trusted his fortunes against an unknown player. The tennis was of the highest amateur order and provided a great thrill for the spectators. The final match of the round will be played off Saturday and is sure to furnish one of the best exhibitions seen in Sierra Madre for some time. The management ought to charge admission but fortunately they are so kind hearted that they announce it is all free.

Tomorrow's Play

The games to complete the semi-finals of the handicap singles will be played on the community courts next Saturday, beginning at one o'clock. The play ground is a little bit rough but in course of a week or so it will be in good condition. The mixed doubles will be played off Saturday also, and all ladies desiring to enter are asked to be on the ground at 1:30 p. m. or else to give their entry to Dr. W. A. Tate.

Resolutions of thanks and appreciation were passed in gratitude for the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawless on contributing the use of their grounds and exercising their best efforts in making the players feel at home, and to the League of Youth of the First Congregational church for preparing and providing refreshments for the weary players and their friends.

All in all, last Saturday's tournament was a splendid example of fine community spirit and friendly cooperation. Dr. W. A. Tate extends his heartfelt thanks to all those who are contributing so splendidly toward this end.

YOUNG TO GIVE FREE LECTURE NEXT SUNDAY

Mr. Bicknell Young of Chicago will deliver a lecture next Tuesday night in the Christian Science church, corner of Highland and Hermosa. His topic will be one of general interest to all who wish to hear more about Christian Science.

Mr. Young is one of the leading speakers of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The members of the local society feel that they are very fortunate in having him for its annual public presentation of the general subject of Christian Science.

W. W. Bayard has returned home after his spring trip of three months. He covers the Pacific coast states for the W. K. Wampole Co., and after a period of many years has acquired a wonderful personal acquaintance with druggists, physicians and dentists in the whole territory.

County Flood Control Bond Issue Wins

With a total vote of more than 700 Tuesday's election developed a surprising amount of interest. More votes were cast on the county flood control bonds than on the presidential convention delegates.

With a vote of nearly six to one, the flood control bonds received hearty approval here, the voters doing their bit to roll up the big majority which put over the $32,000,000 proposition.

In the presidential primaries Sierra Madre followed the lead of the rest of the state. Coolidge and McAdoo received the overwhelming majority of republican and democratic votes respectively.

Dr. Lyon To Be Installed Next Sunday

Next Sunday promises to be a great day in the history of Bethany church. Rev. Elwood P. Lyon, who has filled the pulpit acceptably for a number of months since the resignation of the first pastor, Dr. Rawlings, will be formally installed as pastor of the church. Dr. F. W. Farr will preach the sermon at the morning service when Dr. Lyon is installed. The usual services of the day will be held and the pastor will preach in the evening.

NELLES WILL ADDRESS CLUB

The Men's Community Club are hoping to have Superintendent Fred C. Nelles of the Whittier State School, address their open meeting at 7:30 p. m., Thursday next. This will also be "Ladies' Night" for the dinner at 6:30.

It being understood that the directors of the Sierra Madre Civic association have decided to omit the dinner and open forum for this month, an invitation has been extended by President Bacon to the members of the association to attend the meeting of the Community club on the 15th inst.

Crowd Thrills at Program of Community Sing; Events Continue to Sunday Night

An ideal in public entertainment was realized at the Music Week session of the Community Sing last night. That ideal is a situation where the public appears not merely as spectators and listeners but as participants in something worth while.

In these days of canned music, radio, movies, pictorial supplements and stadium athletics we take our music, art and athletics on the same system—victoriously and without the thrill of participation. Last night it was different. The music week committee arranged a program with a variety of soloists whose work would have honored any platform.

With this artistic inspiration the whole audience was swept to a climax of achievement in popular choral singing. To anyone not familiar with the development of the community singing idea, or with the work of the Sings in Sierra Madre, Alhambra, Hollywood and other nearby cities it must have been a revelation.

Visitors Present

Members of the Alhambra sing invited for the occasion filled a section of perhaps a quarter of the floor. A number came from Hollywood. Mrs. Milton Steinberger, president, escorted to the platform Mrs. J. J. Carter of Hollywood and Mrs. Moore of Alhambra. They faced an audience which packed the club house and gave splendid expression to the spirit of inter-city good will.

Director Hugo Kirchofer gave the whole crowd a "warming up" on some familiar songs which at once made every individual a part of the event. Later he had the regulars of the Sierra Madre sing do a number by way of particular greeting to the visitors.

Solos Enjoyed

Mrs. F. P. Miller who, with Howard Lieben and Jack Buchan, constituted the Music Week committee, presided during the program. The soloists were Randolph Wood, violin; Mrs. Lieben, contralto; Mr. Crockett of Highland Park, baritone, and Mrs. Murphy, whose ability as a soloist has been obscured by her popularity as an accompanist. Mrs. Wood accompanied Mr. Wood, and Mrs. Lieben, and Mrs. Miller accompanied Mr. Crockett.

The tributes of applause which greeted all these splendid numbers showed enthusiastic appreciation. There was further an element of cordiality which can only be attributed to the mood of the audience which felt a measure of personal participation in the program. The beautiful bouquets presented to artists and speakers were a delightful feature, provided through the effort of Mrs. C. A. Cover, Miss Jean Woodward and Miss Clara Holmes, but seeming to carry the approval of the whole audience.

Civic Leadership

Mrs. Carter was introduced by Mrs. Steinberger as responsible more than any other one for the advance of community singing in Southern California. The reception accorded her showed how highly favored the audience felt at having her for the occasion.

After relating how interestingly she had followed the work of the Sierra Madre Sing from its inception, Mrs. Carter told of her recent trip east in quest of community ideals to be added to the Southern California program. So far as the community singing was concerned she found nothing to compare with what is already done here.

"Make California the great singing state," is the slogan which Mrs. Carter is now engaged in bringing to reality. Having been assigned to this statewide work, she announced her invitation to Mrs. Steinberger to go with her about the state as a member and co-worker on her committee. How keenly the community appreciates Mrs. Steinberger's work.

Mrs. George Humphries of 81 East Grand View entertained the Ancient Priscillas and other friends on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Adams are the parents of a fine baby daughter, born Thursday night at Sierra Madre hospital.

"BABY PEGGY" in

THE DARLING OF NEW YORK

You have seen her little comedies and now she is making big pictures. This is her first big feature and we have another booked and more promised. She is adorable with her big brown eyes and bewitching smile. You'll love this million dollar baby star, only four years old and is doing some exceptionally fine work. A child en route to New York from an Italian port with her governess, who forgets her purse, leaving the little girl in charge of a stranger. The stranger, a gem smuggler, takes advantage of the situation by carrying the child on board the ship. The vessel pulls out, leaving the nurse. The crook hides diamonds in the child's rag doll and at New York he is stopped by police. During the controversy the child is taken by the crook's pals. The crooks become fond of the baby girl, but her presence is resented by Big Mike. During the night he drops her in an ash can. The smuggler, freed by the police, shows up with the information about the jewels in the rag doll. A systematic search is made for the child, who, in the meanwhile, has been taken in by a kindly old Jewish shoemaker with nine children. A police raid and a spectacular fire lead to her discovery.

CLUB MEETS ON BIRTHDAY OF BROWNING

In honor of the birthday of Robert Browning, the 200 members of the Browning club of Pasadena received and entertained their friends at the Hotel Vista Del Arroyo yesterday. Mrs. Samuel E. Stork of West Laurel, who is president of the club, had as her luncheon guests several Sierra Madre people. They were Mesdames Osgood, Lawless, Glenwood Jones, Darling, J. W. Jameson, Glidden, Bush and Mr. Dickinson. The program included an address by Rev. Bradford Leavitt; music and pageantry, which consisted of heroines and heroes of Browning's drama and poems. Mrs. H. W. Glidden of West Laurel participated in the musical program, and Miss Ella S. Bush who is secretary of the California Society of Miniature Painters presented miniatures from Browning.

MARY COMING

Mark Twain's famous story, "Life on the Mississippi," was used as a text book by James Cruze in filming his latest production for Paramount, "The Fighting Coward."

"The Fighting Coward," which was adapted to the screen by Walter Woods from a recent stage play, "Magnolia," by Booth Tarkington, deals with the days before the Civil war in the South. It also comes to the Colonial next week.

"Mothers' Day" and Music Week will both receive fitting recognition at the Congregational church next Sunday, according to the announcement of the minister, Dr. William A. Tate.

"Mothers' Day" is the great day of memory and of thankfulness for every man and woman who has known the joy and comfort of a real home. It will be observed Sunday morning when Dr. Tate will speak on "The Ministry of Motherhood." Miss Cook will sing a special solo entitled, "Painting a Picture of Mother." The morning service will be full of inspirational uplift for all who can arrange to be present.

At the evening service in celebration of Music Week Mr. Gilbert Wilson, the well known baritone, will sing selections from the oratorios "Elijah" and "The Messiah" as follows:

1. Recitative and aria, "Lord God of Abraham."
2. Aria, "It Is Enough, O Lord, Take Away My Life."
3. Recitative, "Thus Saith the Lord of Hosts."
4. Aria, "But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming."
5. Recitative, "For Behold Darkness Shall Cover the Earth." Aria, "The People that Walked in Darkness."
6. Aria, "Why Do the Nations Rage So Furiously Together."

This evening of song will be a fitting postlude to Music Week and we cordially invite you to share it with us. Next Sunday at 7:30 at the Congregational church.

Miss Jones Has Chance For Honors

Sierra Madre is on the qui vive awaiting the outcome of Monrovia's contest for queen to rule over Monrovia Day on Saturday, May 17, as Miss Edith Jones, pretty Sierra Madre girl, is one of the leading candidates. The other candidates are Monrovia girls including Miss Irene Rayburn, Miss Goldie Kennedy, Miss Viola Vollmer, and Miss Evelyn Young.

So far the race has been close. One candidate leads one day, another the next. Miss Jones has kept well up in the race and has scores of sponsors who declare that the festivities will be ruled over by a Sierra Madre queen. The race ends on Monday, May 12, and between now and that date it is expected that hundreds of votes will be polled in Miss Jones' favor.

Votes for queen cost 5 cents each and may be cast at the Chamber of Commerce or the Edison office.

The queen contest is but one feature in Monrovia's plans. The neighboring city is busily engaged in perfecting plans for its coming celebration and in extending Sierra Madre an especial invitation to attend the festivities. The local Chamber of Commerce has also been asked to enter a Sierra Madre float in the big floral parade which will be a feature of the morning's merrymaking.

In the afternoon there will be sports and games, and in the evening a mammoth street dance and carnival. During the afternoon there will also be a baby show in which all Sierra Madre mothers are urged to enter their children. The babies will be examined and given mental and physical tests free of charge by a corps of baby experts. Dog races, sham battle, and a May Day frolic will help keep the crowds amused.

TWO TROOPS NEEDED FOR SCOUTS HERE

Troop One, Sierra Madre Scouts, has reached such proportions that two divisions have become necessary. This also has been done as a matter of promotion for the older scouts. All boys who have reached the rank of first-class are members of the Senior Division, and meet each Friday evening at the new park house at the city park. Ivan Munson and Art Evans are directors of this division, with Lester Fennel patrol leader, and Desmond Stovall scribe. Three patrol leaders also have been selected and patrols formed. The new club house makes an excellent meeting place, and the older boys have many progressive plans under way.

The Junior Division meets at the bungalow barracks at the school grounds. M. S. McCane is director of this division with Carl Knowles as senior patrol leader and Bernard Bodine scribe. This division has four patrols and is enjoying rousing meetings every Friday night, with games and special features. Dr. Powers is helping the boys with their outdoor games and sports. Dennis Stovall, scoutmaster, is general director of both divisions.

Seeing YOSEMITE on ZEROLENE-lubricated bearings

If you haven't traveled the Horseshoe Route out of Merced to Yosemite in one of the Pierce-Arrow touring cars operated by the Yosemite Stage and Turnpike Company, you've missed something.

But whether or not you have made this trip, you'll be interested, as a motorist, in knowing that the twenty-five Pierce-Arrow cars used in this service are lubricated with Zerolene. The manager of this famous stage line writes:

"We have been operating a stage line since 1911 and have always used Zerolene. Recently we disposed of some cars that had been in our service for ten years, and during that period none of them had ever had a bearing scraped."

Whether you drive a Pierce-Arrow or a Ford, the use of Zerolene, of the proper body, will not only cut down your oil bill, but give you greater gasoline mileage, less carbon, lower upkeep costs, and a longer life for your car.

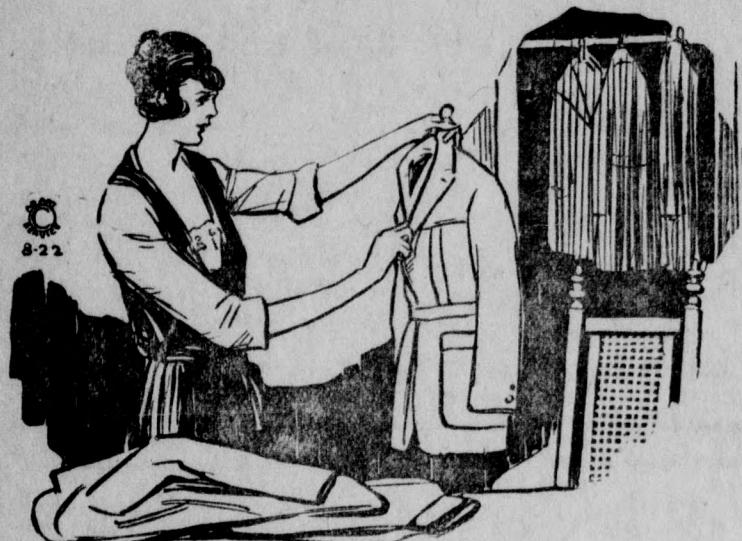

Big users refuse to pay tribute to the old superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" oils — why should you pay that tribute?

Insist on Zerolene, even if it does cost less.

WISTARIA TOWN

The wistaria climbs o'er the long colonnade,
With its blossoms of purple and welcoming shade,
And the pathway beneath it is strewn with flowers
That have given the name to this home place of ours;
And the roses and poppies and lilies of blue
Are away in the morning bespangled with dew,
And the mock-bird is voicing the joy he feels
Mid the scintillant beauty the morning reveals.

Such a quaint little town is Wistaria Town,
As it sleeps in the lap of the mountain of brown,
And it dreams a deep dream through the long summer day
Like a mother-held child that is wearied with play;
And the tree-shaded arbors and gardens but seem Like a fairy-land fantasy caught from a dream,
From a dream with a weftage of crimson and gold,
Such as gleams in the dreams of the gardens of old.

And the low hanging stars, as they pass to the west
Looking down on this vision of peace and of rest,
Seem to linger in passing as though they would stay
In the sky overhead till the break of the day.
But their glittering millions are crowding them on
As they hurry to westward in flight from the dawn,
But each night they return to look longingly down
In this quaint little village, Wistaria Town.

Sierra Madre Woman's Club

Biennial year brings to California club women a more definite knowledge of the comprehensive work of the General Federation, with its 27 departments. Seven major departments will be represented on the seven program days of the convention, which will be held in Los Angeles at the Philharmonic auditorium from June 3 to 11.

Junior Department

The department of junior auxiliaries is one of the most interesting and important. Young girls are eligible to membership. The age limit to be decided by agreement among themselves. Mrs. Lorbeer, a district officer who is very popular with the Sierra Madre club, has urged the formation of a junior club here. Now that the rush of work incident to the building program is completed, the board is able to turn its attention to this matter and Miss Viola Fennel, the club's youngest member, has been appointed to form the organization.

Club Delegates

Only two delegates are allowed the Sierra Madre club at the Biennial and no alternates. Mrs. W. E. Walker, whose long service to the club and to every group in Sierra Madre working for community welfare, has been made a delegate, and the club is honored in having so devoted a woman to represent them and this community.

Miss Viola Fennel will be the other delegate and will find in the great convention an opportunity for acquiring a complete picture of the organization whose work will be duplicated in the junior club. All club members may attend the convention and duplicate meetings at nearby halls will permit the attendance of all who are interested.

Life Members

The members of the board present at a business meeting on Wednesday endorsed an amendment to the by-laws creating life memberships in the club at one hundred dollars, to be limited to twenty such memberships. This plan has been generally adopted by clubs since Mrs. Burdette's admonition that clubs cease to be mendicants, as it provides an additional basis of financing and maintenance.

At the club session which followed, many informal reports were given informing the members in regard to all activities. The stationery committee's report showed that a deficit of $68 exists, due to the expense of re-orders and reprints. All the stationery has been paid for and the amount on hand and the popularity of the various styles will provide the club with a tidy profit as it is sold. "Most people," to quote the secretary of the Art committee, Mrs. Homer Tuttle, "will reckon the stationery effort in terms of community value and artistic accomplishment, as well as in dollars and cents."

Mrs. Jones gave an interesting report of the work accomplished by the Drama department for the year and suggested the following reading for the summer: Anything by Arthur Simons or Gordon Craig; "Famous Houses and Literary Slums of London," "Expressing Willie," by Rachel Crothers.

Next Wednesday Mrs. E. D. Tufts, chairman of junior auxiliaries, will be luncheon guest, also Mrs. Mab Copeland Lineman if her court engagements permit.

The afternoon program should one of the most interesting of the year, for Miss Eleanor Miller will speak on current events and her recent experiences in Washington. And by way of complete contrast, Miss Golby will give an exhibition of the art of fencing, an art of which many of us know almost nothing, but which is very worthy our consideration.

At the luncheon board members will be hostesses with new members seated near them. Mrs. W. J. Miller, telephone Green 90, will receive luncheon reservations.

Don't forget the lawn fete to be held at Mrs. Lehner's on May 31. Preparations are going forward with much interest and enthusiasm.

More than the usual good attendance is expected at the next club dance on May 16. When Mrs. Harold Hart, the hostess, will bring several parties from Pasadena. Mrs. Hart promises something extra fine in the music for the occasion.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS TO HAVE DINNER

Next Friday night, May 16, a mother and daughter supper and entertainment will be held at the First Congregational church. A general invitation is extended to all mothers to come and bring their daughters or borrow somebody else's daughter.

The price of the supper will be 40 cents. Kindly make your reservation with the deaconesses of the church. Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Laidlaw, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. H. Hill, Mrs. Reas, Mrs. Cover, Mrs. Ward, or Dr. Tate.

There will be speeches and a fine opportunity for mothers to get acquainted with their daughters.

Mrs. E. C. Polus left Sunday for Whittier, where she will spend a few weeks visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brooks.

THE PARSON'S CURL

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(© 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
"Never heard such nonsense in my life," growled Mr. Northby as his daughter concluded her argument. "Why can't you be satisfied with your hair as the Lord provided it, growing nice and long and curly, without wanting it bobbed up like some five-year-old youngster?"

"But, dad," protested Amy, "if mother says I may—"

"If your mother says yes—and Stanley says yes—I shall never give my consent. What would a parson, like Stanley, do with a bobbed-haired wife? All the old maid in the parish would raise a howdydo!"

"Pooh," sighed Amy. She was twenty-two, and although she was engaged to John Stanley, and was destined to be a minister's wife, she still secretly clung to certain frivolities of fashion.

That day she asked John what he should say if she bobbed her hair.

His bronzed face grew quite pale. "My dear child—my little church would be without parson if I did approve of it, for you know what they expect of the minister's wife!"

"But what would you think, personally? What do you think, John? Wouldn't you just love it short?" she begged.

He shook his head impatiently. "It is perfect as it is, dear."

She twisted the engagement ring on her finger. She questioned him with big brown eyes as she asked slowly:

"Do you really mean it, John Stanley? If I bob my hair, must I—give this back to you?"

His gaze darkened, and he held her hand tightly in his warm grasp.

Suddenly he kissed it and let it drop. "The ring was my mother's—I want you to have it, dear, because you are the only woman I ever loved—and even if you break your engagement to me, Amy, I want you to keep the ring, always, as a love-token from me." He turned abruptly and went away and for awhile after that Amy was very quiet and said no more about sacrificing her golden brown curls, which worn as they were, tucked away in a shining knot, were considered to be quite appropriate for the promised wife of the beloved young minister.

The bobbed hair would be taboo!

"It is so attractive!" sighed Amy as one after another of her friends fell victims to the barber's shears. One young bride even scandalized the village by bobbing her hair before the wedding and, going further still, chose for her going-away costume a pair of knickers of tweed and a coat to match!

That changed the public mind flatly against bobbed hair; those who were bobbed, might be tolerated by polite society if they permitted the offending hair to grow—as an evidence of penitence.

Perhaps Amy Northby would have been quite cured of her desire for short hair if it had not happened that the Blairs came home from Europe—and it was discovered that the Blairs had bobbed their hair.

Again the battle raged in Little Village.

Amy did not mention the matter again to John Stanley, but, knowing a little bit about women, quaked inwardly every time he met Amy, his little love.

The blow did not fall until to the day before the annual church fair, to be held as usual on the lawn of the Blair estate. Gay tents were erected and Japanese lanterns were strung from tree to tree. The scene in the evening would be like fairland. As usual the minister was very busy, consulting with committee members, flying about in his small car to execute commissions, helping with the decorations. He was sitting in one of the maple trees in the Blairs' yard, fastening a bright paper lantern to a swaying bough, and skillfully inserting within it one of the electric bulbs that were strung along a length of wire.

Below him sounded girlish voices. "Have you seen Amy? Her hair is bobbed—looks too attractive for words—looks like a boy! Old Miss Robbins said she guessed the parson would change his mind now!"

They giggled off and Rev. John Stanley's wrath was so mighty that it nearly flamed up and ignited the tree itself.

That evening Amy awaited him in the Northrop garden, a place of delightful old-fashioned flowers, beehives, a rockery, a sundial, and a fountain. She was standing in their favorite trysting place near the sundial—close by in the orchard a whippoorwill sang in the apple trees, and the bird was singing now. The young minister always associated a whippoorwill's song with that hour, and so did foolish Amy.

"When he actually sees me with my hair this way, he will relent," she argued against her better sense, and she never knew how nearly right she was. John Stanley saw her standing there, her head a mass of little bronze ringlets, and a blue satin ribbon binding them back tightly. She looked adorable—he wanted to snatch her up in his arms. Instead of that, he did not reply to her smiling greeting. He folded his arms tightly across his chest and looked gravely at her. It seemed ages that he stood thus, but it was only a few minutes, then he turned deliberately on his heel and went away—went away—went away—

SCOUTS GOING TO SEE BIG NEWS PLANT

In response to a special invitation sent to Scoutmaster Dennis H. Stovall, from Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., the Boy Scouts of Troop One, Sierra Madre, will visit the big printing and publishing plant of the Illustrated Daily News, Los Angeles, Saturday afternoon. Ordinarily visitors are not admitted till after seven o'clock, but the Sierra Madre boys are to be given the opportunity of seeing the huge presses in operation. Special guides will show them over the "works," Mr. Vanderbilt himself promising to be one of the "reception committee."

The scouts will leave Sierra Madre school grounds at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, on one of the big motor trucks of the Sierra Madre Transfer company, and will return about 7:30 or 8:00. The Scoutmaster and assistants will accompany the troop, and the boys will remain together during the whole trip. The cost will be 50 cents for each scout—and the fare money has been earned this week. The trip will prove both an interesting and educational one for the boys.

Amy thrust her fingers in her ears and dashed wildly through the garden up to her own room where she passed a sleepless night.

The next day, at the lawn party, Amy was irresistible. Under the disapproving glances of her own parents her lovely little head, banded with a wide blue satin ribbon, appeared here, there and everywhere. All the elderly spinster in the parish, as well as many of the married women, looked their horror at the idea of a minister's wife or so little dignity.

"Even though they will not be married for two years yet, Amy should remember that she is engaged to the minister," chattered Miss Cherry to old Doctor Peebles.

"Engaged? So she is. I had forgotten that," wheezed the doctor, who was tired and bored. He trotted off to suggest that they have a game of blind man's buff for the children, and said he would play if Mr. Stanley would. Of course the minister was always ready to "start something" for the children—that was a part of his duties, and it was then that Amy, most lovely and quite unhappy wandered into the game quite unknowing that fate was close at hand to end her dilemma. It had been a horrid day. John Stanley had avoided her, and although she was very gay and lovely she was blighted under the disapproving gaze of her parents, and the knowledge that she was no longer engaged to John Stanley. He would never approve of what she had done!

Blind man's buff!

Someone pulled her into the game. The minister was blindfolded, and because she tried to keep out of his way, someone pushed her toward him. His grasping hand fell on her head, caught some curly hair and pulled—and pulled. The sudden shrieks were stifled—there were giggles now, and wondering voices and he tore off the handkerchief so that he could see.

In one hand he held the ends of several long curly hair at the other end of the curls—was Amy's darling head—hairpins, and the wide blue band that had held them all prisoners, so that only the ends of the curls appeared like short ringlets all over her charming head!

The case of the parish against Amy Northby was closed!

And Mrs. John Stanley—the minister's wife—smiles sweetly when her husband tells the story.

"But he was engaged to me all the time," she ends proudly.

"IF I WAS GIVING ADVICE To a Bride-- which I am too sensible to do," said Aunt Julia, "I'd tell her that if she keeps her husband thinking he's the most wonderful thing that ever happened, he's not likely to go around hunting for dust in the corners."

"My sentiments on being happily married are—Spend less time on your house and more time on yourself and your husband."

You may not agree with Aunt Julia's diagnosis of men, but hundreds of women will tell you that our laundry does save many valuable hours from household routine.

ORATORS DRAW GREAT THROG TO ST. RITA'S

Gems of oratory and song thrilled the audiences which packed St. Rita's auditorium Sunday afternoon. It was a great gathering which greeted Father Eugene Creegan, head of the order of the Passionist Fathers of the west, and Joseph Scott, of Los Angeles, who introduced him.

The event was held for the benefit of the monastery which is to be built on the tract recently acquired by the society in the northwest part of town. (This land was not a gift, as some have understood, but was bought outright.)

The program was fittingly opened by Rev. O'Donnell, tenor soloist, who rendered "Songs that Reached My Heart." Hon. Joseph Scott then introduced Father Eugene, who spoke on "Home, Sweet Home." He spoke of love as being the foundation of the Christian home, and where there is not unity of soul there cannot be true peace. Self must be put in the place of the other and the other in the place of self.

Friendship is the highest form of love, as between pastor and parishioner, husband and wife, brother and sister, parent and child.

Any person who visits your home and tries to get you to break the Ten Commandments is a destroyer of your home life, he pointed out.

Child Teachings

The child should be taught religious things from the first years, even before he goes to school. He should be taught to obey his parents and not as so many parents do, obey their children, which sows a harvest of trouble for themselves. Parents must not have such a passionate fondness for their children that they will not acknowledge their child can do no wrong, this encourages self-will.

They must not show partiality. The first thought of parents should be for the happiness of their children. Selfishness on the part of parents often makes wrecks of lives. Money spent on the home to make it attractive to children is well spent, he declared.

To sum it up, love is the keynote of home sweet home, and the Ten Commandments, a working basis.

Musical Numbers

After the lecture followed a violin solo, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," by James Dennison. Soprano solo, "When You Are Here I'll Not Forget You," by Mrs. Charles Klunk. The last number, the audience sang all together, "Home, Sweet Home."

Doctors Easy Marks?

The average physician is notoriously an easy mark for the stock swindler. To offset this condition, an organization of physicians, surgeons and dentists has been formed which will investigate all investments offered to doctors. This organization will also sue the deadbeat who seeks to avoid paying for professional services.
